

6516209489.txt

As a cross country truck driver, I look forward in checking weather and when I get close enough to the city but still not close enough to get traffic reports from the local stations, I can decide my routing before it's too late to change routes.